TROUBLE WITH BERBILS!

THE CATS' LAIR

IT'S FURRY, IT'S TWENTY THREE FEET TALL, AND IT'S NOT IN A PARTICULARLY GOOD MOOD! This issue, meet... The Berbillion! After one too many attacks on Berbil village, Ro-Ber-Bill, leader of those selfsame furry spacefarers, decides that enough is enough. The village must be protected – and if anything can save their bearskins, the Berbillion is it! Enter Lion-O and Snarf, Thundercat allies of Ro-Ber-Bill and friends. But does the Berbils' lofty robot know this? One thing's for sure – he's bearing down on the two Thundercats – but is that a bear hug he's about to give Lion-O, or something far more deadly? Berbils Ho! on the very next page – the tension is unbearable! Tensions are running pretty high in this week's Mini-Poster too, which features Cheetara in mortal combat somewhere above the slippery slopes of Hook Mountain in the Kingdom of Snowmen. It's the cover to THUNDERCATS 33, and comes requested by Dinesh Dhunna of Market Harborough and Clarisse McLellan of Chesterfield, amongst others. We bid farewell to Power Pack for the time being this issue – but dry those tears. Next week sees the start of a new three part back-up strip, Ghost In The Machine, featuring... the Thundercats! Be here – it'll be good! Leap year catches One Cat And His Cod on the hop on page 23 this issue, as Bjorn and Dave try in vain to discover just what it is that makes February so memorable. THUNDERCATS 50 – gosh, what a lot of issues!

Dear Snarf,
1) Who is the strongest – Wilykat or Wilykit?
2) How fast can Cheetara run?
3) What is S-S-Slithe's weakness?
Kirsten Foster
Perth

1) I'll let you know, Kirsten – they're still fighting about it!
2) 170 miles per hour – sometimes faster!
3) Backache. Slithe employs a slab-footed marsh fiend to walk on his back every Friday, but so far this hasn't solved his severe posture problem . . .

Dear Snarf
I think Cheetara is beautiful. She is my favourite Thundercat, and friends at school agree with me. I would like to know if Cheetara helps you to cook the Thundercats' tea. Also, why does she have yellow hair?
Paul Walter
Plymouth

Tough question, Paul – I guess she was born that way, so she probably didn't have too much say in the matter. As for meals at Cats' Lair, I handle 'em all on my lonesome – too many cooks spoil the Berbilfruit Hotpot, y'know! Snarf! Snarf!

Dear Snarf
The other day I received a Thundercat figure, but instead of the usual leaflet inside there was a new one, showing three new Thundercat characters. They were Ben Gail, Pumyra and Lynx-O. There were also new vehicles for the Thundercats; the Thunderclaw, the Hovercat and the Feliner. Could you please tell me if you'll be featuring these new Thundercats and vehicles in the comic?
Richard Salsbury
Clywd

Sure will, Richard! If you read issues 46 and 47 you'll already have seen the Thunderclaw, and if you stick around, you'll also see not only the new Thundercats, but also the new Evil Mutants as well! More excitement than you could shake a Spirit Styc at!

Dear THUNDERCATS,
I have two questions to ask:
1) Is Mumm-Ra afraid of anything?
2) Who is your worst enemy – Mumm-Ra, or S-S-Slithe and his evil mutants? Also, I think your full-colour, action-packed comic is ace!
Iain Morland
Middx

1) Mumm-Ra has been known to turn an even sicklier shade of green at the mention of the words 'bath night', Keith – and he just hates having his dressings changed! Snarf! Snarf!
2) Mumm-Ra, when he skips bath night!
