Cheetara is a superb athlete, a result of her upbringing in the Feather Meadows of Thundera. Only the fleet of foot survived the local predators, the Night Eagles of Arriokh.

Cheetara easily outdistances her fellow Thundercats as she runs, becoming almost a blur across the landscape. Her leg muscles and tendons have the tensile strength of spring steel, enabling her to reach speeds in excess of 170mph. Cheetara has sufficient energy reserves to enable her to run at this speed for approximately two hours before needing to rest.

Stunningly beautiful, she is also of a friendly disposition, the most even-tempered of the Thundercats. Cheetara's weaponry is a telescopic staff, clipped to her left gauntlet, which extends at will into a multi-purpose quarter-staff, equally useful as a javelin or a vaulting pole as it is in hand-to-hand combat. Battle over, the staff reverts to its original size with a flick of Cheetara's wrist.
