Souls Unite

By Leanna

Chapter 13

“That’s why Selen wants to get to know Raven…to see if she’s just around to protect you or will she just fade and let you go on with your life,” Tygra said.

“I don’t like not having control of my own mind,” Leanna said. “I never know where she does take over or what she’ll do when she does”.

“Lea…don’t get yourself worked up…you know your safe with me,” Panthro nodded.

“I know,” she sighed and laid her head on the panther’s chest.

Tygra turned as the door opened, “you two shouldn’t be here,” Selen scowled, “I can’t do an accurate assessment if you’re around her”.

“Sorry Selen….Panthro just wanted to check up on his wife,” Tygra nodded.

“Well he’s seen her…so please leave,” the Tigress nodded and placed her hand on the lioness’s shoulder.

“Back off,” The lioness growled as her eyes turned jet black, “don’t you dare touch me”.

“Come Raven…you know the rules,” Selen nodded.

“You can shove your rules up your striped ass,” Raven hissed.

“Now there’s no need for such an attitude, I’m only trying to help,” Selen said calmly.

“I was doing just fine,” Raven snorted, “no one asked you to interfere”.

“You do know why you’re here,” Selen asked.

“To be pestered by you….now leave me alone,” Raven growled.

“Come on Panthro…we better go,” Tygra nodded.

“Aww going so soon and here I was hoping to spend some quality time with blue man here,” she smiled, then pushed the panther roughly against the wall, “you and I will meet again kitty,” she whispered in his ear, “so you better have healed, because I’m going to give you one hell of a workout,” she winked and wrapped her arms around his neck and gave him the most passionate kiss she could muster, “just something for you to think about,” she smirked pulling away from him.

Panthro just looked at her and blinked a few times, in a flash raven struck out with her claws. The only thing that saved the panther from having his face clawed was his quick reflexes as he grabbed her wrist, she looked at him and laughed, “Oh I’m so going to have fun with you blue man,” she purred seductively.

Panthro composed himself and left the room quietly, “bye baby…see you soon,” Raven waved as the two men left.

“You ok,” Tygra asked once they were out in the hallway.

“I’m still trying to get use to this new side of her,” Panthro said.

“Let’s go to the monitor room, we can watch the session from there,” Tygra nodded.

****

“I like him,” Raven said and sat down on her bed.

“But you could have also hurt him,” Selen nodded.

“Me…I would never harm him…much….He’s tougher then you think he is,” she smirked, “I’ll keep him on his toes”.

“No…you won’t…remember your only here because I made you surface,” Selen nodded.

“Details, details,” Raven said with a wave of her hand.

“You know you can’t stay……if you do you will be sending Lea to prison for a very long time,” Selen said.

“But I was having fun,” Raven pouted.

“By trying to scratch your mate’s eyes out,” Selen said cocking a brow.

“Oh please,” Raven snorted, “I was just teasing him…tell me doctor…do you have a mate”.

“I don’t see what my having a mate has anything to do with this,” Selen said.

“Just humor me and answer,” Raven said.

“Yes I have a mate,” Selen nodded.

“What about children”.

“Two,” the tigress answered.

“So you’ve gone through estrous twice,” Raven said, “Isn’t it exhilarating, the one time your animal side comes out fully….to lose total control of yourself”.

“But it’s also the time when we are the most dangerous,” Selen nodded.

“Bingo,” Raven smirked, “don’t you wish you could bring that side out more often…I’m sure your mate would really enjoy that”.

“We’re not here to talk about me,” Selen said uncomfortably.

“Aww did I embarrass you doc,” Raven winked, “did you know out of all big cat’s Lion’s are the most promiscuous by nature,” she smirked, “unless we find a mate who can handle us”.

“And you have found such a mate,” Selen questioned.

“Oh yes….that I have,” The Lioness smirked.

“So is that why you surface to protect him when he got hurt,” Selen asked.

“I had too….that’s my mate….you hurt my mate you pay the price,” Raven nodded.

“But you could have just knocked him out….why kill him,” Selen asked.

“Because he was a hired killer and he would have just kept coming back again and again until we were dead,” Raven nodded.

“But to take a life”

“Ha…..it was no loss….he was like a bug that needed to be crushed……look at his criminal record…how many lives did he take…..and I think if you were in my position you would have done the same tigress,” Raven nodded.

“Well I don’t know about that, “Selen said.

“Tell me if someone was about to harm or kill your mate or children..Would you just stand by and do nothing:”

“Well no,” Selen answered.

“There you have it then,” Raven said cockily.

******

“She has a point there,” Tygra said as they watched from the monitor room.

“But it’s her attitude that concerns me,” Panthro said watching the screen intently, “so cold…Even her eye hold the same coldness when she speaks of what happened”.

“Panthro….she’s still your wife,” Tygra nodded, “and this Raven part of her seems to umm really like you,” he smirked.

The panther looked at Tygra and scowled, “not one word tiger”

“Oh please…if I hadn’t of been there she would have been all over you like paint on a wall,” Tygra winked.

“Or splatter over the wall like paint if she had a weapon in her hand,” Panthro snorted then watched the screen, he leaned further ahead as the lioness looked up and stared into the hidden camera, if he didn’t know any better he could have sworn she knew he was watching her.

Tygra stood as Selen walked out, the two men left the monitoring room and met the tigress out in the hallway.

“Well…what do you think,” Tygra asked.

“Well from a professional point of view…..Raven is a dangerous woman,” Selen nodded, “one who is fiercely protective of her mate…but most females are…but in Ravens case…it borders on insanely protective”.

“So in light of what you learned, will my wife be held accountable for Schwenk’s death,” Panthro asked concerned.

“that’s not for me to decide…that’s for the clan elders to decide…but I still have a few days to examine her further…this was just the first step…the next step is to test Leanna and see if she can control Raven,” Selen nodded, “and for her sake…I hope she can”.

“Thanks doctor…do what you can for her,” Panthro nodded and started down the hall.

Selen watched the panther hobbled down the hallway, “He’ll be alright,” Tygra nodded, “he just needs some rest”.

“He’s been through a lot hasn’t he,” Selen asked.

“Literally to hell and back,” Tygra nodded, “he already lost one mate before Thundera was destroyed…he doesn’t want to lose another”.

“Oh.. I’m sorry,” Selen said.

“He doesn’t talk about it….I don’t even think Lea knows,” Tygra shrugged.

“Can I ask what happened”.

“I’ve known Panthro for a very long time, He’s a very private man and doesn’t talk much about his life before he became a ThunderCat,” Tygra said, “All I know is there was a mutant attack and she was killed and that was one of the main reason he became a ThunderCat…. That’s why Leanna is important to him”.

“It’s going to be a rough couple of days…take care of him,” Selen nodded, “I will keep you updated”.

“Thank-you Selen...I appreciate this,” Tygra nodded and headed down the hall after the panther.